Dear Tony,

Re: Ms. Kristine Watts, d.o.b. 03-27-1962

Ms. Watts has what appears to be a rapidly growing left breast cancer, as it was mammographically undetectable in November, 2009, but a mere six months later, easily discernible. In view of its large size, neoadjuvant chemotherapy consisting of dose-dense Adriamycin and Cytoxan followed by Taxol is the treatment of choice. She will subsequently have surgery and then need radiation therapy.

This treatment regimen is quite demanding, as chemotherapy is given every two weeks and toxicities may be significant. If counts and toxicity allow, chemotherapy is given every two weeks for 8 sessions, completed in approximately 16 weeks or 4 months. A 4 to 6-week recovery will then ensue, and then surgery will be undertaken. Another 3 to 4 weeks recovery will be given followed by 6 weeks of radiation.

This chemotherapy is quite demanding, and because of the toxicity of chemotherapy, life-threatening low blood counts and infection can occur. Because of this, she would certainly best be served by having her treatment while not incarcerated.

I would be happy to talk to the judge, if you think that would help.

If you have any questions, do not hesitate to call. Best wishes.

Sincerely,
